A panel of well-known experts in the section 337 area discuss the Federal Circuit's decision in Kyocera Wireless Corp. v. International Trade Commission, 545 F.3d 1340 (Fed. Cir. 2008). The panel will discuss Kyocera's impact on the International Trade Commission's choice of remedies in section 337 proceedings, as well as other aspects of the decision. The panel will be moderated by Andrea C. Casson, Assistant General Counsel for Litigation at the Commission, and will include Ms. Alice A. Kipel of Steptoe & Johnson, Mr. Russell E. Levine of Kirkland and Ellis, and Mr. Steven K. Taylor of Keker & Van Nest. Ms. Casson, Mr. Levine and Mr. Taylor all participated in the appeal as counsel for parties with different viewpoints in the appeal.
